Rev. Rogers of Libertyville is Speaker at Fete

Gives Sermon on "Bishop of Antioch" at St. Ignatius' Celebration

"It was at Antioch that the disciples were first called Christians," the Rev. Thomas Rogers of Libertyville commented in his sermon as guest speaker at Vespers held in conjunction with St. Ignatius' observance of its "Patronal Festival" last evening.

"People of this village of Antioch are peculiarly fortunate in that this was from the first a Christian community," Father Rogers continued. "This can be seen in the very name of your village."

Referring to the career of St. Ignatius, first bishop of biblical Antioch, Father Rogers pointed out that when he was arrested and taken to Rome for trial before Emperor Trajan his first concern was for the welfare of the parish he had left and that his letters to his fellow bishops were full of concern for their safety rather than his own.

"The purpose of having a church or of having a Sunday is not so much that the church itself or the Sunday should be consecrated to the principles for which the early Christians suffered, as that all places and all days should be consecrated to them," he said, in brief.

"The importance of your church does not end within its walls, nor even within the community, but extends to all the hundreds of thousands who may pass by along this highway."

Assisting the Rev. A. D. McKay, rector of St. Ignatius' Episcopal church, was the Rev. Cyril Vlamynck of the Church of Our Father, Chicago.

The choir sang the processional, a special "Magnificat" and the recessional, with Mrs. Deborah Van Patten as organist. Richard Radke was crucifer, Neal Carney and Jack Nelson were candle-bearers and George Nelson and Melford Stillson were servers. White gladioli and purple heather adorned the altar.

Guests at the services and also at the pot luck supper held in the dining room at 6:30 o'clock included Father McKay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKay of Winnetka, and Mrs. Rogers.

The Woman's guild of the parish was in charge of the supper, assisted by St. Mary's guild. An overflow crowd of parishioners, friends and benefactors of the parish was present to join in the celebration and the services.

Because of the success of the event, it may possibly become an annual affair, Father McKay stated.

Hansen to be Candidate for Mayor at Fox Lake

Clarence S. Hansen, of the Hansen Furniture establishment in Fox Lake, has announced his candidacy for mayor in the village elections to be held there this April. So far as is known, he will be the only opponent to the veteran Arthur J. Amundsen, village president for more than a decade.

The thirtieth annual meeting of the Lake County Farm Bureau will be held in the Grayslake Grade school Saturday, Feb. 24, commencing at 10:30 a. m.

A luncheon will be served at noon. Special entertainment features are being planned in addition to the business sessions.

"March of Dimes" is Having Good Response

"People of Antioch have shown a deep interest in this year's 'March of the Dimes' campaign, and have been backing that interest with 'coin of the realm,'" Postmaster Roy I. Kufak, township chairman for the drive here, reported Wednesday.

"Theater collections, in conjunction with special movie features being presented by Bill Lemke at the Lakes theater and Fred B. Swanson at the Antioch theater, had already amounted to $120 by Tuesday night," Kufak observed.

"In addition, there have been many individual donations, in amounts up to $10. Collections from boxes distributed to various business places will not be checked until later in the week or sometime next week.

"However, we have been having a wonderful response to this appeal, and people are supporting this cause wholeheartedly."

IT'S MUNITIONS

Polio Epidemic of '44 Was Largest Since 1916

"Not since 1916 has the nation been attacked so severely by infantile paralysis," reports Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., in connection with its annual fund-raising appeal for the campaign against poliomyelitis. "Already this year over 18,000 people have felt the dread touch of this disease."

"This second largest epidemic of infantile paralysis in the history of this country did not, however, catch our people unprepared, because the dollars and dimes contributed voluntarily by the American people enabled their National Foundation to put into the 1944 epidemic field more trained doctors, physical therapy technicians and nurses than have ever before been added to the roster of infantile paralysis fighters in this or any other country."

"Due in large part to this fact, far more than half of those whom infantile paralysis struck down this year will again be going about their tasks with faith and hope and confidence, because their fellow Americans have made it possible. Further, while everyone afflicted by infantile paralysis is assured the best of medical care and treatment, at the same time there is going on a vast program of research to find a preventive and cure of this disease."

Four Bullets Struck Kenosha Tavern Man

Four bullets fired from close range into his right temple caused the death of Floyd Ventura, 30-year-old Kenosha tavern operator whose body was found in his car on Deep Lake road early last Wednesday morning, it was revealed following a coroner's inquest conducted by Lake County Coroner Garfield R. Leaf.

A post mortem examination conducted at the Strang Funeral home here resulted in recovery of two of the bullets from the body. The other bullets were recovered from the car during an investigation conducted by the Lake county sheriff's department, with Chief Deputy Thomas Kennedy and Deputy Stanley Christian in charge.

To date, the only theory advanced in connection with his death is that he may have been the victim of an alcohol bootleg syndicate.

Former Antioch Carpenter Passes Away at IOOF Home, Green Bay

Services for Norris E. Proctor, 82, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Strang Funeral home, with burial in Grass Lake cemetery.

Norris, a retired carpenter and for many years a resident of Antioch, passed away Monday in the Odd Fellows' home at Green Bay, Wis.

A sister, Mrs. Lydia Horton, is a resident of Antioch, and another sister, Mrs. Della Bell, lives in Oak Park. A brother, Edward Proctor, is a resident of Weyerhaeuser, Wis. A sister living in Chetek, Wis., died last year, and a brother who was a resident of Owen, Wis., passed away two years ago.

After the death of his wife, nee Ida Runyard, to whom he had been married for 51 years, since Sept. 27, 1893, Proctor had lived at the home maintained by the Odd Fellows order at Green Bay.

He was born in Salem township, but was engaged in carpentry in Antioch for many years. He had made his home for 26 years at Chetek.

Expect Gain in Rural Population of County

Lake county's rural areas may be expected to gain in population during the post-war era, according to a survey made by U. S. department of agriculture experts.

The survey, results of which were announced recently from Washington, D. C., shows that Lake county gained about 900 rural residents as the result of migrations in the period from 1930 to 1940.

It is believed by the department that in the post-war era the county will prove capable of supporting not only former rural residents who left the farms for the armed service or to enter manufacturing industries, but other who may settle here during the general back-to-the-farm movement expected after the war.

Fifty-Four More Farms Added to Electric Lines

Fifty-four Lake County farms were added to the rural electric lines of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois during 1944, raising the total number of farms in the county with electricity available to 1,688, it was announced today by George S. Bartlett, division vice-president.

Bartlett reported that farm electric customers are being added in the county wherever applicants can justify their wartime need for electricity under war production board regulations and that owners and tenants of the fifty-four farms added last year qualified under the board's rules.

With last year's new additions, 97 out of every 100 farms in the county were at the year end, either using electricity or were adjacent to the company's rural lines, Bartlett said. There are 1,736 farms in Lake county.

Third of Dairymen's Classes Well Attended

More than 50 attended the third in a series of dairymen's night classes, last Thursday evening in the high school.

Discussing "Dairy Types from the Herd Classification Standpoint," E. M. Clark, field man for the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, stated that there is a close relationship between good "type" and good production in a herd.

Elimination of poor producers makes for real economy, Clark said, quoting the old saying that "a poor cow will eat as much as a good one."

Swapping Freedom For Groceries

Reports indicate that consumer-labor groups are bringing organized pressure to bear in favor of tightened price and rationing control. If this is the result of patriotic concern for the war effort, no fault can be found, but there are ample grounds for suspecting that furthering the cause of victory is not the major factor in such pressure group maneuvering. Apparently it is an attempt to escape squeeze of inflation by turning to increasingly stringent government regulation. If this process was occurring in peacetime, these groups would be guilty of attempting to barter away the people's freedom for a bag of groceries, a swap that history has demonstrated cannot be made.

After the war, the people will have to make up their minds to reestablish the unregulated ways of peace, regardless of temporary hardship. They cannot expect government to set the price of everything they wear and eat, and tell the producers and distributors how and when to operate, and still preserve a representative form of government.

Hundreds of thousands of retail distributors willingly surrendered the right to carry on business as independent individuals, because they believed they were helping the war effort. They did not surrender the right for the convenience of any pressure group. And when the war is over, they will eventually demand that the management of the distribution industry be returned to those who bear the responsibility for its successful operation—the store owners themselves.

Efficiency and volume are the bywords of every modern merchant. The high standard of living which the country now takes for granted depends upon the maintenance of this volume and this efficiency. Cumber-some centralized regulation, carried on indefinitely, will result in less goods for the consumer, not more, as competition is stifled and the incentive to serve is blotted out.

Yes, we can keep freedom or we can lose freedom, but we can't swap it for groceries.

A Jolt To Public Confidence

It is unfortunate that OPA saw fit to cancel without notice the ration points that housewives had been so religiously conserving. It was, in effect, the breaking of a contract. Millions of women had been saving their points to use only if needed, as they understood the points were good indefinitely. The person who saved was therefore penalized.

On top of this, "business suspension" orders were asked by OPA for stores alleged to have sold goods in violation of the new regulation, when the only information the stores had on the sweeping changes was from news stories.

In specific cases in Portland, Oregon, the attorney for food stores said: "Enforcement officials of the local OPA had previously advised these operators that they were not being run by the newspapers and that only their own releases were official and that no changes were to be made until official notice had been given by the OPA."

Such tactics seem to be an inevitable part of bureaucracy which the people must endure as part and parcel of wartime controls. The Congressional investigation that is suggested may in some measure restore public confidence. Facts rather than secrecy are the most potent weapons in maintaining public morale.

For Postwar Employment

"It is the responsibility of business enterprise to translate market opportunities into employment and production," President Roosevelt said in his recent budget message, and the public generally, and businessmen in particular, will unhesitatingly agree with the statement.

Business has long been recognized for translating market opportunities into production and jobs, and has long since taken steps to carry out its obligation. The fact is that what the President said in a general way, industry already had said in detail when it pledged itself to initiate "a process of prosperity" in the postwar era. By increasing production by lowering prices to increase consumption, and by maintaining high wages to raise the buying power of employees, industry will activate its pledge.

For "employment and production" do not make up the full "process of prosperity." Without sufficient consumption, the things we make will gather dust and rot in warehouses. Since industry's war record leaves no question of its ability to increase production to any level necessary, the question of consumption becomes all-important. It is just as necessary to increase the opportunity for all to buy as it is to increase the opportunity for all to have jobs and earn.

So industry proposes to take definite steps to increase the opportunities for all to buy, after victory is won. First of these is to put on the market the finest products that can be made at the lowest prices for which they can be sold. Business intends to do this through full utilization of its technological know-how. It will be done without penalizing wage rates, because industry knows it cannot sell its products to workers who earn only starvation wages.

Winter Adds to Allies' Burdens

Its Inevitable Hardships for Fighting Men Are Now Being Felt

ON THE WESTERN FRONT.—The Allied armies that whipped the hedgerows of Normandy, stayed on the Germans heels in a hare-and-hounds pursuit through northern France and Belgium and then won the battles of the windy, rain-lashed canals of Holland now are facing an opponent new to them but familiar to the Germans: Winter and its inevitable hardships for fighting men.

The Allies experienced the preliminary stages of winter in the final phases of their fight to clear the Schelde estuary and bring up the line to the south bank of the Maas river. Driving cold rain, interspersed with sleet, has already fallen. It will continue in the months to come with snow and frost, and the few intervals of sunshine will be treasures.

For the bulk of Allied officers these are new conditions under which to conduct a campaign, and for most of the men there will be harder work and a greater strain on supply forces.

Early End Not Expected

On the basis of the makeup of the German troops encountered thus far, the remaining Nazi divisions are certain to be built on a solid framework of commanders and men who participated in at least one of the three great winter campaigns in Russia and who know what the weather requires of them.

Right or wrong, few of the Allies here now are looking for an early end of the European war. The general view of the fighting men coincides with Prime Minister Churchill's recent warning that the war may carry on to Easter or beyond.

The Germans have been fighting determinedly on the defensive and the lengthening lines of Allied supply have forced a slower advance.

It still remains to be seen if the Germans' reorganized and refortified defenses form a thin crust disguising a hollow or partly rotten core or whether they are solid right through. In either case, there is little doubt the crust itself may be difficult and costly to crack.

Decisive Months Ahead

"The next few months certainly will be interesting and also should be decisive," said an armored force officer, whose men have been in the fight against the Germans as long as any others in the entire Eisenhower command.

"The rate at which our troops adapt themselves to new problems and difficulties, which the winter campaign will involve, may settle the rapidly with which the war is concluded on the western front."

"The German veterans are past masters of all the tricks of winter warfare. We still have to learn. It will be interesting to see what sort of pupils our troops prove to be."

In the miserable terrain of the Dutch lowlands, where the German floodings and constant rains have made everything but dikes and built-up roads impassable, and where progress on the roads is painfully comparable to a line of silhouetted ducks in a shooting gallery, armor is only of limited value.

The Germans, with their passion for using tanks as dug-in pillboxes, have the edge.

In western Germany, however, the land is better suited for armor and for the maneuvering tactics in which the Allied armored forces have proved superior to the enemy.

Russia Pays Honor to Four Great Women Fliers

MOSCOW.—The role women play in the Red air force was illustrated in the announcement of the award of the title Hero of the Soviet Union to four women fliers from 20 to 25 years of age.

They were Major Evdokia Dikuleeva, who, a citation said, took part in 800 sorties at night; Captain Maria Smirnova, who flew 3,260 sorties, 805 of them at night; Lieutenant Evdokia Pasko, a navigator who flew 780 sorties, and Lieutenant Evgenia Rudneva, a navigator who participated in 3,500 sorties before being killed.

Amount of Cash Spent

On Beer Amazes Town

GREAT WYRLEY, STAFFORDSHIRE, ENG. — Staggered by statistics and not by their drinking, the residents of this village have learned that they spend approximately 25,000 pounds annually on beer.

The men blame it on the women, saying the women are the heavy drinkers and that actually the village as a whole is abstemious. But the receipts of the town's two pubs prove 25,000 pounds expenditure.

Indians Get 5 Million

Leafy Vegetables

It is important to include some of the green leafy vegetables in your spring Victory garden and to keep them coming all during the growing season. It is a good plan to start with leaf lettuce, spinach, mustard and turnip greens in the early spring, follow along with chard and New Zealand spinach in the summer, then finish off in the fall with lettuce, late spinach, kale, or endive. The last three varieties will stand considerable cold fall weather without being damaged.

Defatted Corn Germ

The protein of defatted corn germ is 85 per cent as digestible as the protein of beef round and its biological value, based upon the percentage of digested nitrogen retained for maintenance and growth, is as high as that of beef round. These results were obtained at the University of Illinois Agricultural Experiment station and report by Prof. H. H. Mitchell and Jessie Beadles.

50 Years Ago
In The Antioch News
Jan. 31, 1895

It was 12 below zero at 7 a. m. Sunday.

Antioch will have fire protection if the people only do their part. A good fire department can be secured for $700, according to figures respectfully submitted to the village president and trustees by the committee, J. C. James, Jr., E. B. Williams, Edwin Richards.

Courting, not the old fashioned kind in which "two are company and three a party," but such prosaic matters as attachments and suits in replevin occupied the attention of Justice Burke two days the present week, and afforded an opportunity for all the legal talent of the village to be heard. Daniel Webster, in his celebrated plea to "let that woodchuck go," was not "in it" with some of the legal lights of this baliwac; even the "judge," hardened as his nature has become by the rebuffs showered upon a country editor, was visibly affected.

The man in charge of the weather bureau made another of those remarkable and fantastic changes in the atmosphere by ushering in another severe storm of the season Friday afternoon, in which the wind from the north-east, accompanied by drifting snow, made it very uncomfortable for those who were forced to be out and none too comfortable for those who were indoors, as the fine particles of snow, under pressure of a high wind, found every crease and crevice, and sifted in around the door and window casings, unless the same were airtight.

Tramps who have not had the measles will do well to stay out of the Indianapolis jail and workhouse.

A farmers' institute, bakery contest and cow-calling contest will be held at the high school next Thursday afternoon and evening.

Northern schools of the second annual Northwest High School conference will meet at Antioch Friday night, while the southern schools play at Franklin park. The winners will clash at Wauconda's new gym Saturday afternoon and evening.

Miss Una Minto of Millburn will leave Sunday for a two months' speak-tour of the southern states.

Candidates for the election in April will include William A. Rosing, Barney Naber for township supervisor; J. B. Dickson, Ray Sorenson, justice of the peace; Carl Barthel, Frank Dunn, highway commissioner.

The Antioch fire department succeeded in saving the Odd Fellows hall and John Nett store in Wilmot from fire last week, but were unable to save the old Cribb homestead in Lake Villa and the Joseph Fernandez place on Grass Lake.

Silences Japanese Guns By Playing Sweet Music

CHUNGKING.—"Music hath power to soothe the savage breast," the Chinese learned in the recent battle for Myitkyna.

A public address system was used to broadcast music and news to Japanese troops, who generally held their fire while the broadcasts were on.

One news report, however, apparently contained something obnoxious to the enemy, for they immediately replied with a heavy artillery barrage. A captain in the front lines grabbed a field phone and called back for a change to musical records.

As the sweet strains of music again drifted over the lines the Japanese barrage was silenced.

Artillery Salvo Plays Army Wedding March

KORNELIMUNSTER, GERMANY.—The first American wedding in occupied Germany took place here to the accompaniment of the howling guns of one of the greatest artillery actions of this war.

The bride was Lieut. Pauline Ferris, an army nurse from New Smyrna Beach, Fla., and the bridegroom, Chief Warrant Officer Charles M. Baker of Aurora, Colo.

The lieutenant was just saying "I do" in response to the officiating chaplain, Capt. George W. Zinz of Erie, Pa., when a battery of heavy United States guns let loose an earth-shaking salvo.

JOE HORTON

Agent SINCLAIR REFINING COMPANY

How smart have you been for the past 3 years?

THINK, for a minute, about what's happened to most of us at home in the last three years.

Chances are, you've had all the work you could handle at higher wages than ever before.

In spite of higher taxes and somewhat higher prices, you've netted more hard cash than ever before.

You've made more money—you've had less time to spend it—and, for a couple of years now, there's been less and less stuff to spend it on.

On top of that, you've had thrust at you at every turn the finest chance this world has ever seen to save and invest that money.

You've been asked to invest in War Bonds which, when held to maturity, pay you back $4 for every $3 you put in. Through the Payroll Plan, it's been made easy for you to buy those Bonds automatically—to save bigger amounts with greater regularity than most of us were ever able to save before.

In the last three years, in short...

You've had the chance of a lifetime to accumulate money! Money for your old age—money for emergencies—money to set you up in business—money that can help make this a healthy, prosperous country for your boy when he comes home from war!

Did you grab the chance? Have you been backing this war to the limit with your dollars—have you been buying all the War Bonds you could and hanging onto them like grim death?

If you have—fine.

If you haven't—well, it's not too late to start right now. But you ought to get in and pitch doubly hard, to make up for lost time—and money!

Keep faith with our fighters. Buy War Bonds for Keeps

Observer

Statistics compiled by the National Safety council reveal that of people in all occupations, farmers suffer the most accidents. These accidents cause serious delays in the important production of food, and the financial loss through accidents occurring to farm people is nearly one billion dollars a year. Enough time is lost through farm accidents to produce the nation's wheat crop, the council points out.

The possibility that immediate trained medical aid may not be available in rural areas makes it important for the people of these areas to understand the nature of their accidents and take steps toward avoiding them.

Oddly, the number of farm deaths caused by livestock equals, and at times exceeds, those caused by machinery. It is a wise rule for the farmer to remember that the "tame bull" is about as safe as the "unloaded gun" that annually takes so many lives. A bull is never safe, and a horse or cow always may kick, the council warns.

In 1944 there were 17,200 fatal accidents on farms, two-fifths of them occurring in the home. There were 4,500 deaths due to agricultural work accidents mostly involving machinery. Farmers have a hard time learning that they should never clean, oil, repair, or adjust machinery while it is in motion.

If you drive your car for only short distances you are bound to have condensation in the crankcase which in cold weather turns to ice and will cause your oil pump to fail—this will result in burned out bearings.
The Remedy—drain your oil more often or if possible arrange your trips to cover more miles at one time so as to get your motor hot enough to evaporate this condensation.
